

This is a category III project according to IIC's environmental review procedures.

Each subproject must comply with Argentinean environmental laws, regulations and labor standards, as well as applicable IIC policies and occupational health and safety regulations.