

This is a Category III project according to IIC's environmental and labor review procedures because specific impacts might result which can be avoided or mitigated by adhering to generally recognized performance standards, guidelines or design criteria. All of the subprojects considered for financing under the IIC/CAF program must comply with the environmental and labor laws, regulations, and standards established in their respective jurisdictions, as well as with applicable IIC policies. As part of the evaluation process, beneficiary companies will be subject to an environmental and labor review.

To achieve a better understanding of the IIC's environmental and labor guidelines, CAF has agreed to send appropriate representatives to the IIC's environmental training workshop for financial intermediaries.
